

I personally want this to not be allowed.

We all know that they (power companies) won't care about the interference BPL will cause. They are simply trying to capitalize on a market they want control of.